How is your business school responding to Lord Mandelson's announcement that the Government is to cut university funding in England by £533m and there will be no funding for extra student numbers for 2010-11?

On 15 March at Warwick Business School we are giving you the opportunity to discover how several universities and business schools are implementing lean management in response to lean times.

We offer:

- Case studies and practical insights from the Universities of Aston, Cardiff, Nottingham Trent, St. Andrews and Warwick on avoiding waste while focusing on the student experience.
- Small group interactive sessions on process mapping and lean management in practice to create efficiencies and additional capacity.

Fee: £135
